Whiteland Community High School

Whiteland, Indiana

Volume XV

Students must give much in order to gain much

At WCHS the students gave of themselves whether in academics, extra-curricular, or athletic happenings. Just as students worked in the class room to become "brainy" they also surpassed former achievements held in sports. A total student involvement emerged at Whiteland as the students sought to make WCHS the best high school in Johnson County.

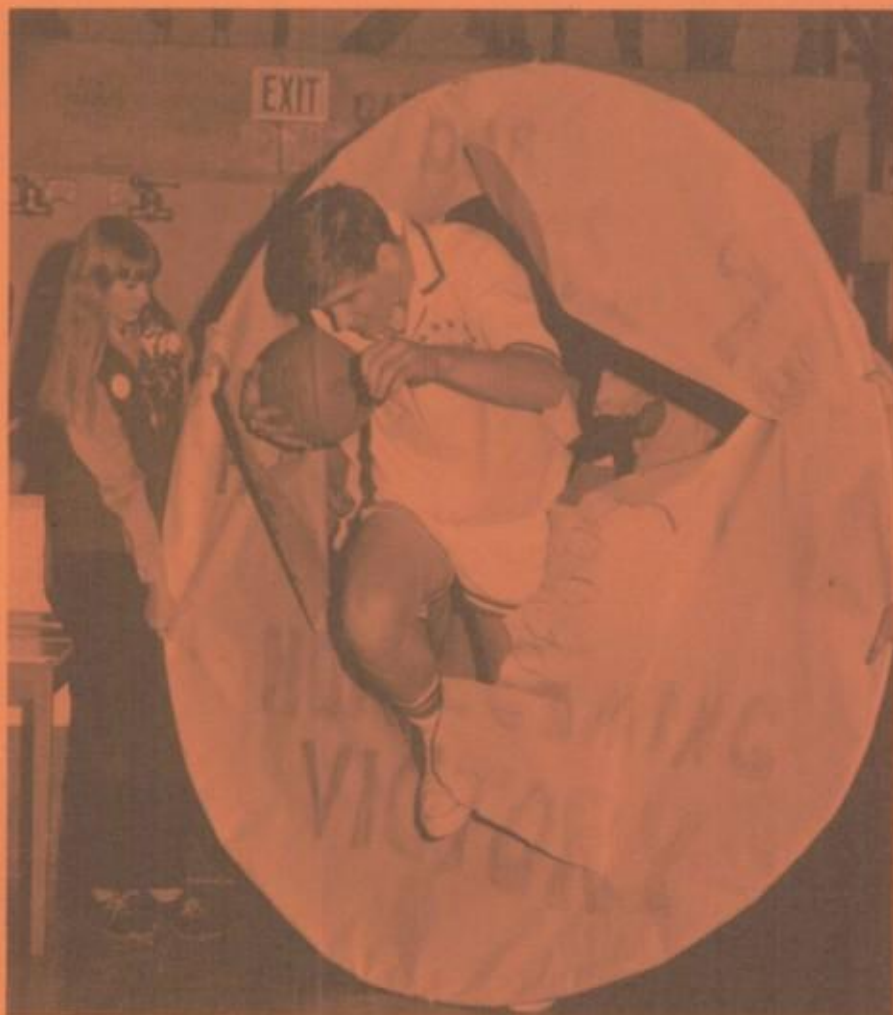

A strong student council led the student body in many reform movements. Whether good or bad, the voice of the students was heard, and many were surprised by what was said.

The gum scraping sessions, the Sunshine's Thanksgiving baskets, and the 9:00 p.m. bed-time hour of the athletes all exemplify the many facets of student sacrifice.

Although not everything went smoothly at WCHS, nearly everyone gave to help make it the best in '72.

Crownings of queens Lavana and Susie delight Homecoming crowds

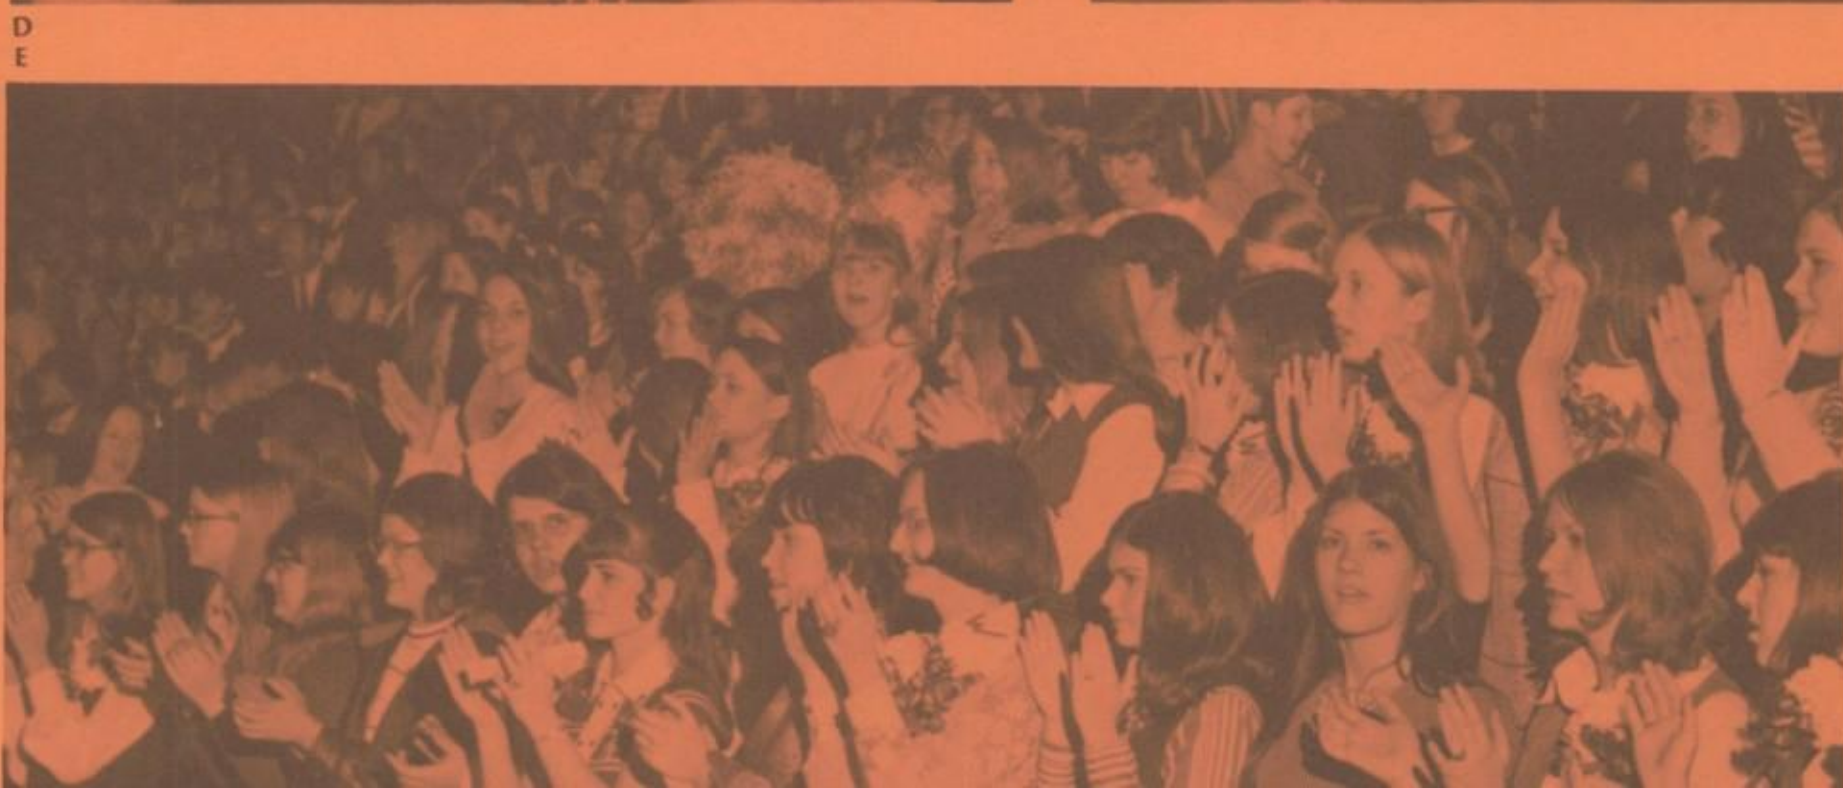

Warrior gridgers and cagers fought hard and produced two victories for all Homecoming spectators.

While the Warriors were firing up between halves, Senior Lavana Scales was crowned Football Homecoming Queen 1971. As Lavana and her court consisting of Julie McKee, Dee Ann Fulmer, and Vicky Cottingham watched the final two quarters, the Warriors emerged victorious over visiting Center Grove Trojans, 34-16.

Inside a heart of bandmen, Debbie Jennings, Susie Cooper, Tina Moore, and Sondra Richardson awaited the crowning of Miss Basketball 1972. After being pronounced winner, Susie Cooper advanced to the throne and was presented with roses, a crown, and a pair of kisses from Co-captains Larry Polesel and Ed Tichenor.

The Warrior players and fans celebrated their victory over Danville with a dance after the game.

School spirit boosted by athletes, fans

Most WCHS sports events have something in common—they're loud! Many fans do their best to let the team know WCHS is behind them all the way, win or lose.

School spirit seems to center around athletic events; it is very evident from all the cheering that White-land has spirit—lots of spirit! Students support their teams, and the teams give a victory, or at least a hard fight for a victory, in return.

Vocal and Instrumental Music Departments unite for presentation of "The Time is Now"

A

Bandsmen and vocalists for the first time combined their talents for two concerts—"Home for Christmas" and "The Time is Now," a spring spectacular.

Groups in the vocal department include Swing Choir, Entrees, Beginning Chorus, and Concert Choir.

Miss Jean Cox replaced Mr. Ed Luse

as choral director during the second semester.

The Symphonic Band, a select group, served as the performing group and placed first at playing contest. The Concert Band, which did not perform, trained students to become better musicians.

Prom and Sunshine Dance highlight social activities

The Sunshine Society held its annual dance on December 22, 1971 in the Break-O-Day Gym. Many couples enjoyed dancing to the music of Dean Duvall while others sat at tables lighted by candles. Santa Clause appeared and presented each girl with a candy cane and after Meredith Dube was crowned queen, the jolly man danced the royal dance with her.

The class of 1973 outdid itself in presenting their prom "The Impossible Dream." A water fountain, wishing well, and blue flowered trees decorated the Franklin College Ballroom on the evening of May 12.

Princess Susie Cooper and Prince

Jeff Winger had courts consisting of Donna Raftery, Ellen Wendt, Ellen Cornelison, Sandy Black, Wayne Morgan, Darrell Stovall, Ron Ramsey and Bobby Poole. Queen Jamie Speas was chosen from candidates Terri Dunlap, Cindy Burchfield, Margie Zumbrunn, and Sandy Whiteside, and Ron Winiinger reigned over Kerry Christian, Larry Polesel, Pat Downey, and Mike Nachand.

One light moment was when couples danced to the Mexican Hat Dance and the Bunny Hop. Mrs. Sandra Duke and her husband also entertained the group with old fashioned dancing.

Student gain recognition for scholastic achievement

Everyone needs recognition of some kind. Some students are able, with much hard work, to be recognized for outstanding academic achievement. Not everyone has the ability to be a valedictorian or salutatorian, to be in the "top ten" of his class, or to score among top percentiles of achievement tests. These "academic elite" deserve to be honored.

- A. Patty Bertsch led the class of '72 in several areas—she was valedictorian as well as winner of the DAR Good Citizen and Betty Crocker Awards.
- B. Seniors Marc Cosat and Ron Ross excelled in the National Merit Testing Program—Cosat was a semi-finalist and Ross, the 1972 salutatorian, was a finalist.
- C. Boys' State Alternates Ron Ramsey and Kirk Brownfield and Delegates Dave Bechman and Tom Icenogle were chosen to attend the week-long seminar on government.
- D. Chosen to attend Girls' State were Lee Ann Limp, Stephanie Coffman (alternate) Cheryl Schumacher (alternate), and Ellen Wendt.

The end of a long, hard journey arrives at last!

Most seniors agree that it certainly feels great to graduate! Commencement climaxes twelve long years of education—twelve years of memories both happy and sad.

Graduation is a time of looking back at those twelve years and remembering teachers, classes, classmates, and special times—but it is also a time for looking to the future and wondering what it holds in store.

Seniors have moments—fun and serious

During the school year, seniors experience mixed feelings. They realize they will soon be going out into the world, and it seems just a little frightening to face that first job, college, or the service. But in spite of all the seriousness, fun will always remain part of the life of a senior.

Students and teachers learn from each other

Students at WCHS spend six hours a day in the classroom. Of these six hours, students might spend them rebuilding a diesel engine, baking cookies, working Miss Beck's "impossible ones" or even typing a Western Union telegram.

Through class discussions and debates, teachers and students viewed each other's opinions. Although sometimes greatly differing, these discussions helped the students and teachers understand each other better.

Teachers and students met not only in the classroom but in extra-curricular activities as well. This union proved to be as great a learning experience as that of the classroom.

As teachers gave to the students through their teaching, students gave to the teachers through their learning. This unity of giving provided an education for both groups.

Students give a little more of themselves

Students at WCHS are actively involved in their school work. You may find that many students at Whiteland Community High School are working together to get a little extra out of their classes. Some students have broadened their knowledge at school to include learning new skills and traits of their choice.

We can also recognize each individual for what he has given of himself—both the average and outstanding pupil. WCHS students have found that they must have many different qualities to meet the requirements of their ambitions. The different departments this year have worked together to guide the students to have much to give and say.

Courses get new evaluation

The 1971-72 school year was one of preparation and anticipation. The teachers at WCHS are preparing for getting new books for next school year. They are evaluating their old books to see if the material in them is up to date. Many new books will be ordered for next year to give the students more background in each subject.

Not only were materials checked but the course contents were also carefully re-evaluated in preparation for the North Central team to visit WCHS next year.

All areas of the school curriculum will undergo strict surveyance to qualify for extended accreditation with North Central Association.

Giving more to each other

Students and teachers cooperate more with each other. The students have more to say about the functions in the life of the school. In the many different departments at Whiteland Community High School the teachers and their pupils work together.

There is one day of the school year which is called Teachers Appreciation Day. On that day the students take the place of the teachers in their classrooms. Each individual has much to give in his classes.

In such classes as art, shop and home ec, the students are individuals as they stand more on their own in doing their work.

WCHS gives wide variety of subjects

The students of Whiteland Community High School have a wide variety of subjects from which to choose. There are academic, business, and technical courses offered to the students, who may mix and match these different areas to have the type of classes they desire. Some new subjects added this year included Bible literature and novels.

Next year there will be a new vocational school in which students from different schools in the area can participate. Subjects to be offered include auto mechanics, welding, mechanical drafting, electronics, data processing, commercial foods, horticulture, and business.

Whiteland has creative and talented pupils

Whiteland Community High School has many students with creative ability and special talents. They demonstrate their talents at many different programs and contests and also in their classes at school.

In the art, Home Ec and English classes, talent ranges from creative designs in art to making a new style of dress. The teachers and students at WCHS work together on many ideas to put on Christmas programs, class plays and many other exciting things.

One can also find creative ability in signs around the hall for school sports and posters showing events coming up in the future. In the school teachers and their pupils use their talent in decorating the rooms with significance to the course they are teaching and by using a variety of techniques in getting the subject across to the students.

Athletes' sacrifices pay off in victorious seasons

The WCHS athletes presented the school with many trophies and numerous achievements in 1972. A record height of enthusiasm from the students, coupled with the ability of the teams helped make WCHS the most competitive of all the rival schools.

Not only did the trophy case take on a new look, but the gym and football field also dawned a new look in '72. The new track and the Warrior head on the gym floor, along with new uniforms gave WCHS the look of a champion school.

All of the teams had very impressive records. Although the "early to bed" and "no girls during the week" rules weren't always appreciated by some, the outcome of the teams made these rules bearable.

Whether on the field, floor, or track, athletes gave—and gave hard.

Warrior gridders have great season, 7-3

Whiteland football was quite a big thing this year. Each game was a full house for Whiteland and we know why. The first three games of the season Whiteland scored 150 points to 11 for the opponents. Whiteland was undefeated for the first seven games losing only the last three.

Terry Cottingham captured the most valuable player for the season as well as leading scorer for the team and county. He also placed eighth in the state scoring contest. Rob Shirley was the leading rusher for the team while Doug Kelsay lead the team in tackles. Terry Cottingham, Doug Kelsay, and Rob Shirley were named to Indiana's Who's Who in football. Whiteland had their best record ever, and are looking forward to a good season next year.

The Warriors had the best team in the history of football in the 1971-1972 season. The team beat Greenwood for the first time ever in football. The Warriors, falling to defeat only three times in the season, were strong contenders for the Mid-State Conference title.

The season over, the Warriors were rated second in the conference behind Plainfield. The result of a winning season was the school giving their support for the team that had given their effort all season.

Grapplers win sectional title, county trophy for Whiteland

A great year for Whiteland High School's Baby Blues was climaxed with their becoming Johnson County's first Sectional champs. Joe Suding, Jon Howson, Barney Thompson, Bill Galloway, Larry Buchanan, and Jerry Byers qualified to participate in the Regionals at Arlington High School. Both Howson and Galloway placed fourth in Regional action.

Winning the county meet was another important victory. A closely-fought battle with arch-rival Greenwood ended up as a victory for the Baby Blues.

WCHS grapplers also proved themselves by placing second in the Mooresville Invitational and the Mid-State Tourney.

Determination, hard practice, skill, and good sportsmanship pay off for No. 1 Baby Blues

How many students fully realize the work and training that the wrestling team endured?

Always displaying sportsmanship and determination, they learned the various holds and techniques; they then ran, and did calisthenics, and wrestled each other in their grueling practice sessions. Perhaps the roughest task facing some of the guys was making weight before the meet—which took a lot of willpower.

Baby Blues and fans have spirit and show it

The WCHS Baby Blues are a group of guys that really have a lot of spirit. Whether in practice, warm-up, or during a meet, they show a tremendous amount of team spirit and enthusiasm. And the spirit is there whether the contest is won or lost.

The success of the 1971-72 wrestling Warriors proved without a doubt that Whiteland is the wrestling power of Johnson County. Because of the tremendous efforts put out by the team, more and more students are becoming loyal wrestling fans. The popularity of wrestling at WCHS is ever-increasing.

Warriors take scalps

The 1972 varsity basketball team had a very good year, finishing 14 wins and 8 losses. They finished in a tie for third place in the Mid-State standings and had two members selected to the All-Mid-State team. Center Ed Tichenor was selected by his teammates as Most Valuable Player and his 22.1 average led the county in scoring.

The reserve cagers also had a winning season, finishing up 12-6. With all of the talent that is moving up to varsity in 1973, Whiteland is sure to be a contender for a Sectional championship.

The freshmen closed their season with a 6-8 record, but they gained experience which will be valuable in the future.

Warriors shatter seven track records

The 1972 track team really made some noise as they made seven long-standing Warrior records obsolete, while equaling another.

Senior Bill Galloway made about the loudest bang for Coach Conrad's cinder boys with a pole vault of 14 feet 1 inch, a vault which was among the tops in the state, plus it beat the old record by nearly two feet.

Sophomore Randy Wood also set the fans on end with a high jump of 6'3", also a Warrior record.

Senior Ron Winger continued his domination in the mile-run as did senior John Drake in the 440 with record performances of 4:26.5 and 50.6 respectively.

Joe Adams, sophomore, half-miler, stirred the dust with a 1:59.6 record 880 run and Junior Bob Poole stepped off a record-tying 10:17 two miler.

Ending up the record breakers were both the 880 and mile relay teams. The 880 team of Bill Gale, Randy Money, Jeff Zumbrunn, and Doug Kelsay hustled to a 1:34.1 record and a 3:34.1 mile record was set by Ron Winger, John Drake, Dan Gindling, and Joe Adams.

Warriors show depth on the baseball diamond

For every position on the 1972 Warrior baseball team, Coach Harold Hickman had a very talented starter and a backup of comparable quality.

In the pitching department, the Warriors had four top-notch starters and two very capable firemen. Larry Polesel, who fired a one-hitter in the season home opener, led the Warrior staff with Mike Nachand and junior Jerry Anderson and Ron Ramsey close behind. Relief pitchers were junior Dennis Foran and sophomore Ernie Edmonds, who both saw reserve action also.

The primary backstop for the year was Bill Smith, junior; with senior Don Allen available for an alternate backstop.

Down at first base were senior Mike Nachand and junior John Fowler alternated on the bag. At second base, Barney Thompson held down the sack all year with sophomore-reserve Joe Suding on hand as a utility man. Larry Polesel and Ron Ramsey alternated at shortstop all year, each while the other pitched. Rounding out the infield was Jerry Anderson at third base with senior Ed Tichenor around at the first of the year to help at the hot corner.

The outfield was also very secure with seniors Don Allen, Terry Cottingham, and Steve Hasch; and juniors Rusty Mason and Mark Corbin holding down the pasture.

All in all, the 1972 Warrior diamond team really deserves an ovation, because they played some of the hottest baseball seen at W.C.H.S. in the past few years.

Golf team looks to '73 season

Whiteland's golf team started the season with several goals in mind but accomplished only a few. The team suffered mild setbacks when two returning golfers did not finish the season. Although the team never won an individual meet many players improved their scores over the year.

The main goal accomplished was having fun while improving the scores and meeting other people from different schools. Next year the team will have four lettermen back.

Cheerleaders give their all to enthuse crowds

Under the supervision of Miss Phyllis Beck, varsity, reserve, and freshman cheerleaders started practicing this summer by attending Smith-Walbridge Camp for cheerleaders. All squads competed, winning several ribbons for first-, second-, and third-place ratings. Varsity cheerleaders won the spirit stick three times and on the final day, all three squads were presented with one to take home.

Varsity and reserves also participated in the Johnson Co. cheerleader contest. There was at least one squad at all football, basketball, and baseball games, and wrestling and cross country meets.

All these activities and many, many hours of practice helped to make the Booster Club the biggest and best ever and helped the sports teams to produce winning seasons.

Clubs provide outlet for enthusiasm and ingenuity

Club activity at WCHS reached a new height as many students gave time and energy for club, school, and community projects.

Although clubs met regularly during school hours, much time was spent after school and on week-ends for various projects.

Highlights of club activity at WCHS were the Sunshine dance, the French Club Mardi Gras, and the over-night FBLA convention at Ball State.

Much of the success of the clubs was due to sponsors and to club officers. Even though the work load was not always shared evenly by club members, the majority of students did participate in many activities.

The Sunshine Club theme "Others" carried over to various clubs as they became totally involved in '72.

NHS, Council train leaders

Being selected into National Honor Society was a great honor bestowed upon 24 WCHS students, who maintained a 9.0 grade average. Assisting teachers and tutoring are just a few of the obligations of NHS members.

Changing the dress code, teacher evaluation, and music in the study halls were a few accomplishments of Student Council this year.

Under the leadership of Bill Galloway many systems were put into effect to make WCHS a better school.

Girls give to other people

"She's the girl of my dreams my Sunshine girl . . .". These words can be heard every fourth Wednesday in the Auditorium of WCHS. The Sunshine club is probably the club with the largest over all membership at Whiteland. Along with being very large it is also very busy planning the many yearly activities.

Sunshine is one of the many service clubs at Whiteland. They begin the year by preparing Thanksgiving baskets for the needy which they repeat again at Christmas. They also go caroling at the Old Folks home at Christmas and sponsor an all school Christmas Dance.

Sunshine also volunteered their services this year in the form of collecting for the Heart Fund. They also honor their parents by sponsoring both a Daddy Date Night and a Mother-Daughter Banquet in the winter and spring respectively. The girls also hold an Ideal Lady Tea at which they honor the lady who means something special to each one individually.

To end the year the Junior Sunshine members hold a Senior Breakfast as a farewell to the graduating members. They also try to send at least half a boy to FCA camp.

Service clubs help others in the community

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, better known as FCA, is a group of boys who are desiring to become better Christians. Holding quiet-times in the locker room before school is just one of the many activities they participate in. During the summer FCA boys go to camp. Also during the year the boys travel around to various clubs and organizations and give devotions and speeches.

It is the responsibility of the Lettermen's to keep the gym floor clean after ball games or other activities.

Hi-Y, Key Club give services

Serving the community in every way is the objective of Hi-Y and Key Club.

The Key Club sold stationery this year as a money-making project. They also gave money towards a wheelchair for the Town Hall. Serving the community can be profitable, as Key Club and Hi-Y have found out, but it can also be a rewarding activity. WCHS students truly do have much to give.

Career clubs prove helpful

There are many types of club activities offered at WCHS including service and career clubs. Future Homemakers of America is a club in which girls learn about homemaking and things to look for when buying a home. They also take part in various conventions including state convention where they received an award for their scrapbook this year. They also went bowling and participated in many events with the Future Farmers of America.

Both Red Cross and Health Careers are service clubs. Among their activities are preparing boxes of 'goodies' to send to servicemen overseas. They also make trays and favors to take to patients in various hospitals. All clubs add something to the lives of those involved and those who are contacted through the club's services.

FFA and Ecology clubs have the "earth" in common

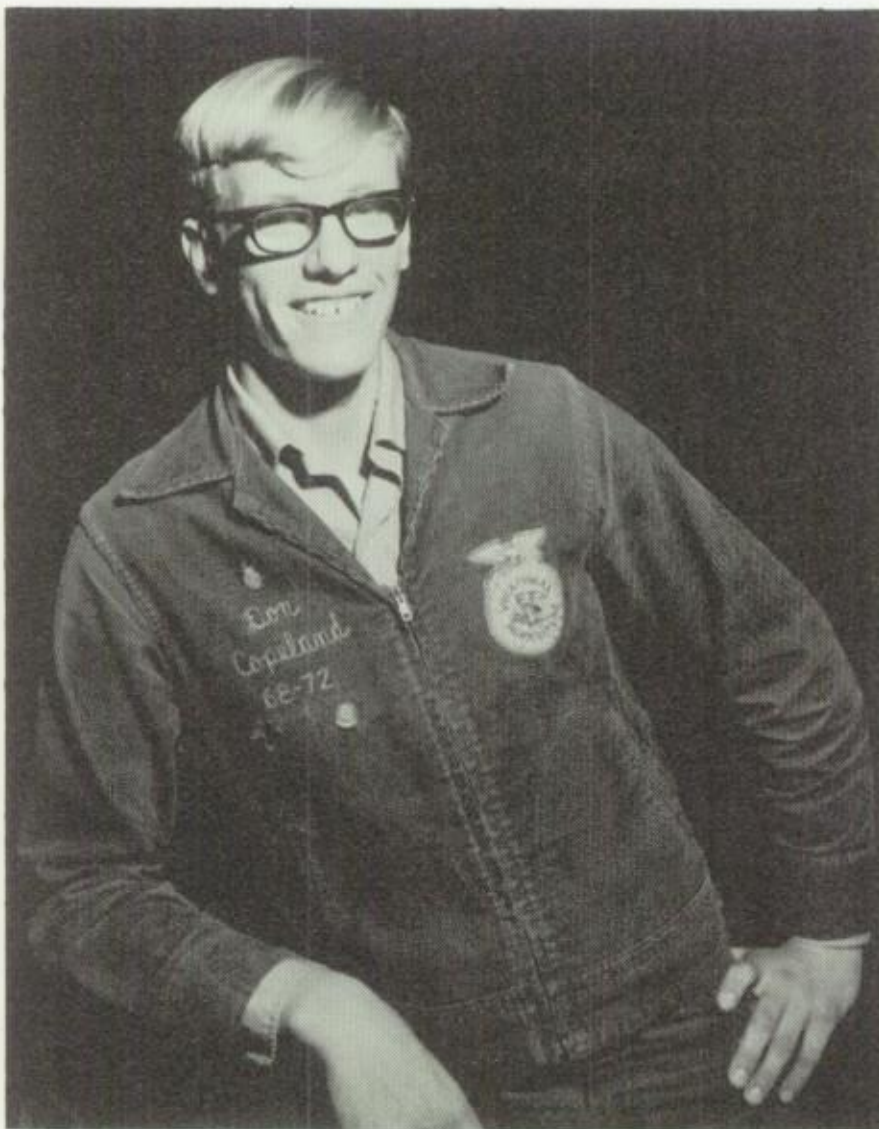

There are many types of clubs activities offered at WCHS including service and career clubs. Future Farmers of America acts as a training club educating the boys in the many aspects of farming. Future Farmers is more like a fulltime occupation than an extra-curricular activity. The members are busy year round participating in crop, livestock, dairy, soil, and other judging contests.

The Environmental Action Club is fairly new at Whiteland. The club sponsored a paper drive as a community service and as a way of making money. They also sponsored a bicycle week and other extras like selling buttons and stickers and making posters to boost National Ecology Week. Various professors, engineers, and other speakers also came and presented slides and programs for the club.

Career clubs prepare youth for big world

Whether planning to become teachers or future business leaders of the world, WCHS students have a lot to say and give.

Being teachers of the future, individuals must give of themselves in their work to help students prepare for a bigger and better world. Through FTA, students learn how to work and communicate with the younger generation.

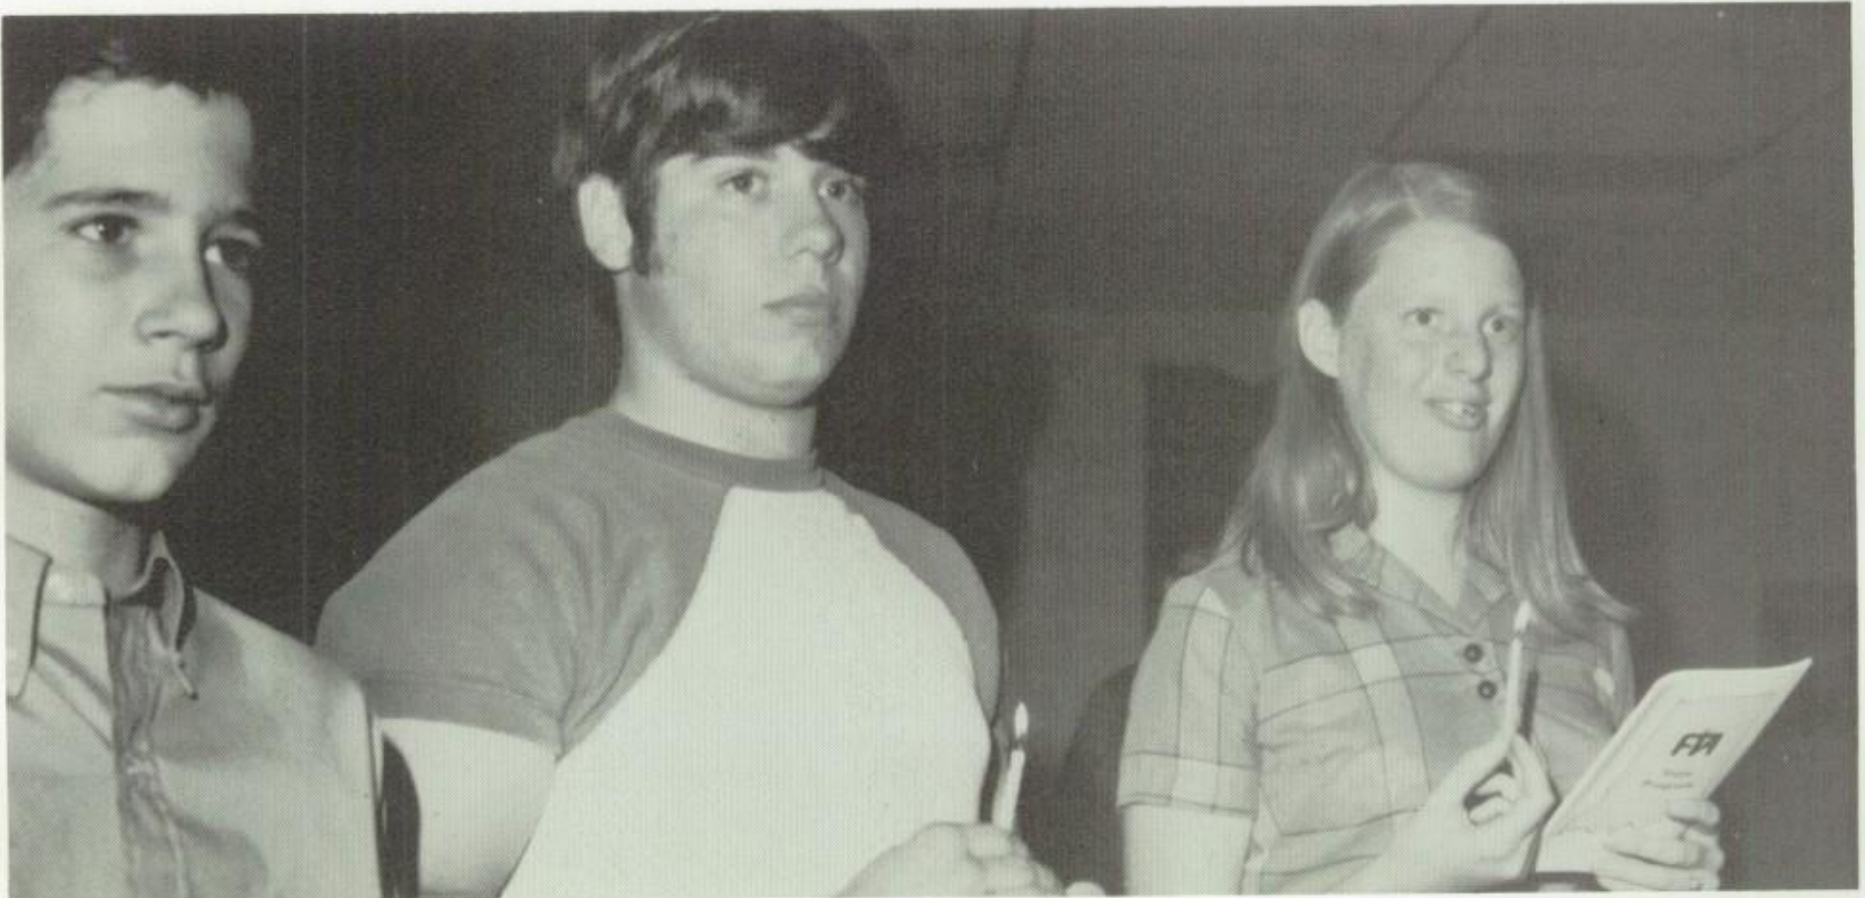

Future secretaries, stenographers, receptionists, accountants, and computer operators prepare for the big world they will step into after graduation. But no matter what type of job they succeed in, they will always have so much to say and give to the world.

Foreign clubs have so much to say and do

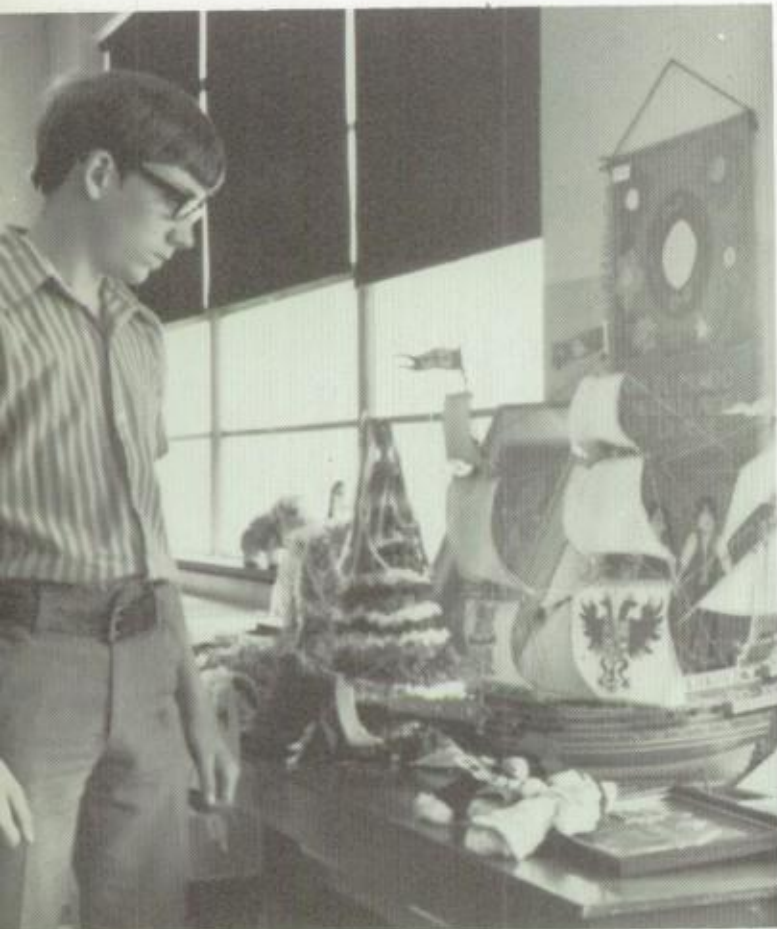

French, Spanish, and Latin students have so much to learn and say as they strive to learn about foreign customs and languages. Whether having a Roman Banquet, travelling to an elaborate French restaurant, or going to the Taco House, students are learning and doing at the same time.

Language students truly have much to say and give to WCHS. Such phrases as "oui" in French, "si" in Spanish, or "si placeas" in Latin can be heard in the classes as the students recite.

Latin and Spanish projects help the students learn the culture, dress, and customs of the foreign countries. All these things help benefit language students in later years.

Preparing the school newspaper is a bi-weekly job of members of the Smoke Signals staff. Journalism classes supply many of the stories and feature items which appear in the newspaper and the staff edits it. Gathering news and publishing it can be a difficult job but a very rewarding one.

Groups give spirit a boost

So much is said and so much is given by members of both the pep band and band and the booster club at Whiteland's indoor and outdoor sports events.

Together these two vital groups spread spirit and enthusiasm throughout the entire student body. Through their combined efforts many honors were gained for WCHS including having the largest and loudest booster club at both the 4-way tourney and the sectional.

Pep band and pom pon corps added to the splendor of the festivities with their floor shows and dance routines. Both groups participated in the selection of the new Homecoming Queen—Junior, Susie Cooper and the spirit week leading up to the 71-72 sectional.

Choirs take on new look

Singing and swinging their way through another busy year were the many branches of the WCHS Choral Department. They were involved not only in their scheduled school programs but also in many outside performances and activities. One change was the combination of the vocal and instrumental departments to present the annual Christmas Program and Spring Concert.

New outfits, new music, new choreography and new directors were a few changes on the agenda. For the first time the Advanced Choir purchased coordinated outfits for their performances. New music and choreography earned the various groups several awards in the District and State Solo and Ensemble Contest. The year began with Mr. Ed Luse directing these groups, but he was replaced by Miss Jean Cox the second semester.

The WCHS Marching Warriors, Majorettes, and Pom Pom Corps contribute a great deal of time and effort to perfect numerous shows. The majority of the performances are at home football games where the marchers add their color and sound to pre-game and half-time shows.

Thanks to a week at band camp and other summer rehearsals, the Warriors placed 38th in State Fair Competition and 10th in the Delaware County Band Contest.

Dramatists give time, improve talent

The thirty members of the Dramatics Club had to give so much of their time and talents to make the play "Oh, Promise Me" a success. A trip to see "Funny Girl" at the Ladywood St. Agnes, a year-end party, and a kissing booth at the Mardi Gras highlighted the club's year.

A fantasy fairyland describes the 1972 junior-senior prom

"The Impossible Dream," the theme of the 1972 junior-senior prom, became a reality as the fairy-tale, candy-land dream began at 9:00 in the Franklin College Ball Room.

Couples danced to the light and romantic music provided by Dean Duvall's band.

For a change of pace couples participated in a Mexican Hat Dance, the Bunny Hop, and a mod type of rock music.

Jamie Speas and Ron Winger were crowned king and queen of the dreamland an hour before the turning point of midnight.

Ron held the honor of being prince of the 1971 prom and then became king for his last prom. Jeff Winger replaced his brother as prince, Susie Cooper reigned with Jeff as princess.

At 12:00 midnight the riches returned to reality as Ron Winger and Jamie Speas returned to reality to their everyday roles and the seniors walked through the golden archway, with their last prom in the past.

Students and faculty participate—together

People at WCHS came in all sorts of sizes and shapes. No matter how different, they all gave to their school. Whether active in school life, or administration at Whiteland, people at Whiteland gave time and energy for many activities.

Members of the faculty helped students in many ways besides education. Along with time spent in school, these people stayed past 3:10 to supervise extra-curricular activities.

Many students didn't appreciate the tardy, gum-chewing, and absence rules set up by the administration. However, because the new dress code was approved and the hair codes were relaxed, the students and administration did meet on many issues.

The students at WCHS had a lot to say and the administration listened and helped them learn.

BEING

WCHS seniors had a busy year as they prepared to become graduates of Whiteland Community High School. '72 was packed full of ball-games, dances, club activities, and parties as the seniors celebrated their last year at WCHS. Although plans were made for next year, seniors didn't miss the advantages of "their" year.

The largest graduating class in the history of WCHS, seniors planned their future in various ways. Of the 181 seniors, 15 signed up for the military service. College was the goal of 31 of the graduates. Fourteen seniors planned to be married shortly after graduation. Forty-Seven students entered the working world upon their graduation.

The senior class motto, "Our fathers shaped the past, thus producing the present; we must shape the present, thus securing the future," best describes the class as they strive to become a useful part in society.

Lunch boxes, Hobo outfits, senior antics

Each senior class of WCHS has always celebrated its last year in high school with special events and even some wild antics. The class of '72 was no exception as they carried Mickey Mouse lunch boxes to school and played with the milk cartons at lunch.

Dress-up Day and Hobo Day also easily distinguished seniors from the rest of the student body. All hope was lost for the senior class when, on Hobo Day, they appeared clad in some of the weirdest costumes believable. Faith was restored as they dressed in their Sunday best on Dress-up Day.

Seniors enjoy a yearbook of memories

Seniors looked forward to getting yearbooks at the Victory Dance last fall. They enjoyed looking over their first year as upperclassmen and asking friends to sign their books. The mad dash down the hall to claim their books and the sale of unused pictures also added to the excitement. The antics of past seniors displayed there also gave them ideas of what to do during their senior year.

Doug Bennett and Carolyn Sims enjoy signing yearbooks at the Victory Dance.

Seniors prepare for diploma and graduation

Principal Sleighter congratulates Homecoming Queen, Lavana Scales.

Because this was their last year, many preparations had to be made for their graduation. Last January, when seniors were measured for caps and gowns, the seniors had their first taste of these preparations.

The memory books and senior keys also heightened the excitement of graduation.

Long hours of planning helped make the graduation of the class of '72 one of the most memorable.

Pink and wine colored crepe paper, along with bouquets of roses, decorated the gym as a beautiful graduation ceremony began.

Busy juniors plan for prom

WCHS juniors had a very busy year in '72. Taking the PSAT and SAT, along with planning for their first prom, fully initiated the class of '73 as juniors.

By selling concessions at basketball games and by collecting dues, the juniors were able to give the seniors a successful prom.

Choosing a class motto, flower, and color was a sign that the juniors were ready to become seniors.

Freshmen adjust to changes

WCHS freshmen spent a lot of time adjusting to high school life. Changing from a modular to a traditional schedule was just one of the adjustments made by freshmen.

Along with this change, they also had to adjust to a new learning atmosphere. Once oriented to being freshmen, they added their own touch to the spirit of WCHS.

Although freshmen had no major projects, they put their mark on club, academic, and sports activities.

Administrators have final say

The school officials at WCHS have the final say in all school matters. They say what the students are allowed to do at school, the days we go to school and don't go, the scheduling of the athletic events, and many other things in running Whiteland Community High School.

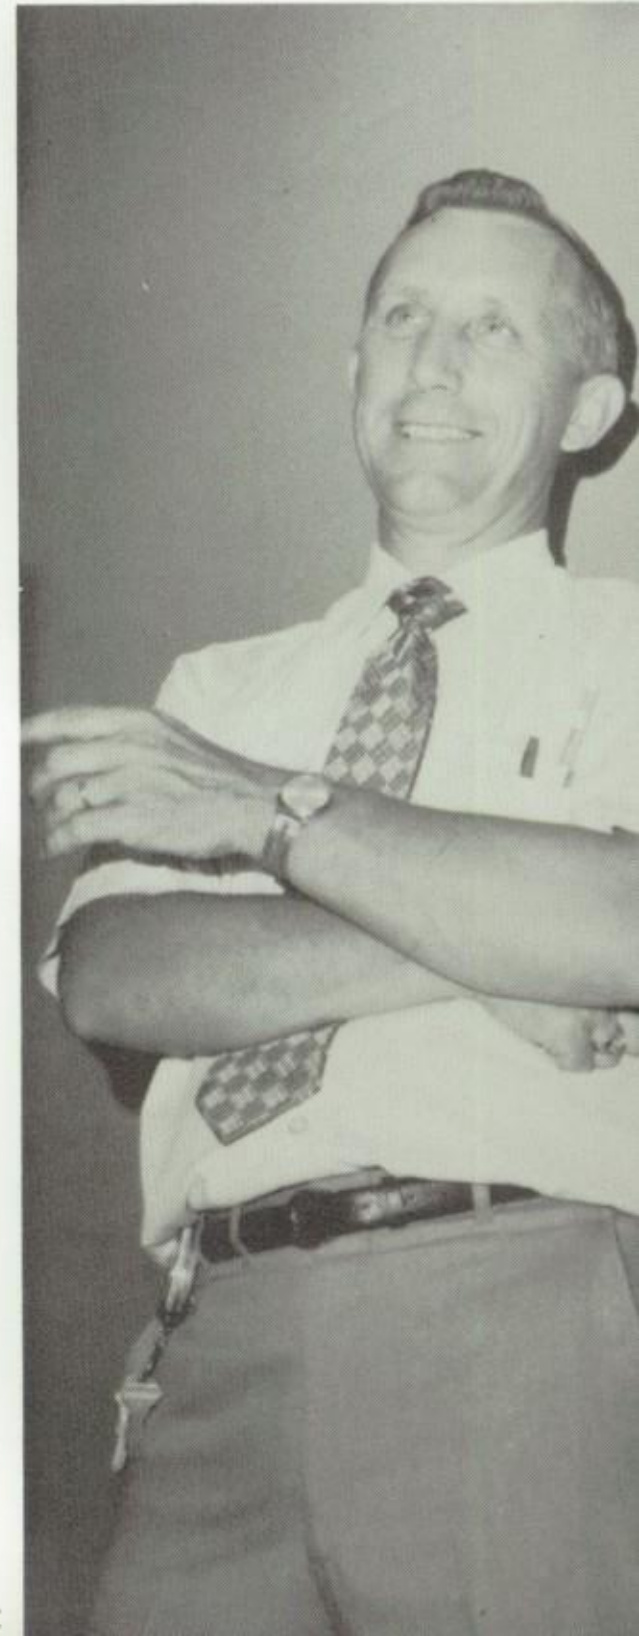

The administration initiated a new system of attendance. After missing ten days of school, a student must have a doctor's excuse. If tardy to class more than twice, the student has to stay after school one hour. Another change in policy determined that girls have the privilege of wearing slacks to school. There must be many people to make these decisions and see that things run smoothly.

Teachers help with activities

It takes many people such as the administrators, janitors, cooks, matrons, and teachers to run the school. The teachers help the students in many ways. They often stay after school to help with activities. They also chaperone school dances and direct school plays.

The cooks, matrons, and janitors also deserve mention because they have an important job in running Whiteland Community High School. Preparing the school meals, helping with club dinners, and cleaning up after the students is a job that must be done.

Teachers give encouragement

Teachers at WCHS are faced with the difficult job of giving of themselves to the students. The guidance counselors are always helping and counseling the students with their problems. In the guidance office the Microfilm Reader and Printer have been added to give students information about the college or job of their choice.

The teachers at Whiteland Community High School have had many new ideas accomplished this year as they work together with the students. Mini-courses in the English department involved the students in many different aspects of English, by providing classes on tall tales and discussion and debate. Mr. Combs' government classes also participated in registering eighteen-year-olds to vote.

Local businesses give often to support WCHS

The businesses of Whiteland and the surrounding areas have given much to the community and school. The businesses support many school activities both monetarily and through activities.

The people who advertised in this section did so not only to promote their businesses but to help produce the '72 edition of the Warrior. Without their unselfish support, this project and many others in the school would not be possible.

The school newspaper also receives support from many businesses. Through their support the newspaper staff has been able to produce a paper every two weeks.

School is not the only place the businesses have helped in the community. Through their tireless efforts, the Whiteland community can be proud of the businesses which represent it.

Dear R.L.K., MET, or greaser,
This is not nasty because I say it isn't and everyone knows I'm not nasty.
Now is your mop? Waiting to go to band camp (I hope).
This [↑] was not a sentence.
I ~~for~~ forgot ~~what~~ else I was going to write. Ok, crap. I still haven't made as many mistakes writing this as I do in typing class. Rex sends his love.

See ya,

Debbie Doyle

-75-

I'll cross out as ~~many~~ many words as I feel like.

To Marcia,
To a real nice friend that I like
Ever so much!
Kathy Doyle.
